About Aging Services of California

Aging Services of California is the state's leading advocate for quality, nonprofit senior living and care. The public-interest association represents more than 400 nonprofit providers of affordable senior housing, continuing care retirement communities, assisted living, skilled nursing and home and community-based care. Aging Services' advocacy, education programs and public relations better prepare its members to meet the needs of more than 100,000 seniors.

Yet another way that the association brings value to its members is through a robust scholarship program. Established in 2001, the program provides support to members experiencing financial difficulties - difficulties that would prevent them from participating in the associations' programs and educational opportunities. The funds also provide scholarships for administrators in training (AITs), nursing staff and for continuing education for employees of member organizations.

To date, the scholarship program has already provided nearly $75,000 in assistance to members in need. Proceeds from this year's Golf Classic will once again benefit Aging Services' Scholarship Program. Through your generous support, and the support of others like you, we hope to continue building upon this success.
